

About one-third (35%)

of Gen Z consumers have no say in which grocery stores to shop.

While Gen Z have a relatively high level of control over what they eat, they have less over what is available and where it comes from.

Source: GEN Z 2018 report

